SURPRISE GATHERING
FOR POPULAR COUPLE

Mr and Mrs Stan Cooper (nee Miss M. Reid) may have been successful in outwitting their many friends in the district when they placed their own setting for their recent nuptial ceremonies but all their finesse could not outwit their large number of friends who, on Monday evening, with all the keenness and merriment of the chase set out to do the honors of a real "chivy." Concentration for the hour took place at the home of Jack Murray, the culmination of the successful efforts of the merry-makers having their finality at the home of Mr Geo. Reid, where the popular couple were discovered.

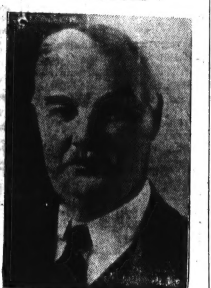

The efforts at discovery but gave rise to the finds when midge the clasp of bells and various other noises were heard and the newlyweds, tracked down, entered into the jovial spirit of the occasion to the extent that the royal ceremony did not break up until well into the early morning hours. No doubt, persistence of their many friends was an indication of their good wishes and signifies a long honeymoon among a host of friends.

PLAN TO EXPORT ALBERTA WASTE GAS

Waste gas from the Turner Valley oil wells, which now goes to make up the inferno of "Hell's Half Acre" one of the most imposing sights of the field, may be exported soon to provide flames for the Montana smelters, according to information received.

That this surplus gas from Turner Valley be exported since there is at present no market for it in Canada, was one of the chief recommendations of the report which the Gas Conservation committee recently made to the department of the interior after studying the situation in the Turner Valley field.

Negotiations were opened some time ago for permission to export surplus gas to Montana, but the Hon. Charles Stewart, minister of the interior, turned them down until such time as the conservation committee could determine if there was any market for the product in Canada.

TWO MILLION FOR MAIN HIGHWAYS

PROVINCE PLANNING TO SPEND BIG AMOUNT FOR PUBLIC WORKS

EDMONTON.—A highway and bridge construction and maintenance programme, involving a total expenditure of $5,250,000 will be undertaken by the department of public works during the fiscal year, which ends March 31, 1931, according to appropriations provided in the annual estimates made public Wednesday morning.

For main highways construction alone, the sum of $2,000,000 has been appropriated by Hon. O. L. McPherson, minister of public works, this sum being $500,000 in excess of the estimate for the previous year and approximately $375,000 more than was actually expended during the year that ended March 31st 1929. District highways estimated expenditures total $750,000 compared with $500,000 of the previous year and $300,125.69 actually expended in 1929.

Under the heading of secondary highway construction the sum of $150,000 has been appropriated which is the same amount as provided the previous year. A total of $750,000 has also been appropriated for construction of bridges, this sum being $250,000 in excess of the estimate for the previous year.

All the appropriations above will come from capital account.

Main highways maintenance under income account has been estimated at $800,000 which is more than $400,000 in excess of the amount estimated the previous year, and $250,000 in excess of the amount actually expended during the year of 1928-29.

Bridges and ferries maintenance will take an additional $135,000.

AGRIC. SOCIETY HOLDS A BIG JAMBOREE

ONE OF BIGGEST CROWDS EVER GATHERED. JAMES THE ELITE THEATRE

What should constitute almost a record crowd for local occasions gathered on Friday evening in the Elite Theatre, where the Wainwright Agricultural society held an annual get-together which surpasses everything heretofore for value received.

The affair opened with a bunch of splendid selections by the Town Band and these boys under the leadership of Mr. F. Stott sure did their stuff in great shape and were heartily applauded for their many numbers.

Following this something over seventy tables played progressive whist and despite a few drawbacks from the handling of such a crowd, all the participants had a real enjoyable time for a couple of hours during this feature.

At the close of the card-playing, Mr. W. Knowles, president of the agricultural society acted as chairman for the following programme:—

Piano solo—Mrs. E. Sherwood

Illustrated monologue—Mr. F. Morris

Scottish dancing—Miss N. Ogilvie

Musical monologue—Mrs. H. Cour-seiler

Charleston interlude—The

Misses I. and L. Boyd

Reading—Mr. F. Stott

Vocal Quartette—Messrs. Stott

Huntingford, Dunsmore and Morris.

Violin solo—Mr. Alec Adams.

Everyone of these was so truly pleasing that a vociferous encore was in demand after each number, and the large crowd were treated to all they desired by the artistes.

Before closing the entertainment portion of the evening the chairman gave an interesting speech along the lines of the work of the agricultural society and what it meant to the farmers of the community. He pointed out that only by all putting their shoulders to the wheel could it be possible for the society to reach that state of efficiency which it deserved and to which it should be assured by the necessary support of all.

After all had enjoyed a sumptuous midnight lunch which in the hands of the ladies of the society was a most proved just as successful as the rest of the event (and they sure worked hard, too, to ensure the success attained) the prize winners at cards were announced as follows:—Ladies

—Mrs. F. Church, 1; Mrs. G. C. Boyd,

2; Gents—Mr. S. Hibby, 1; Mr. J. H.

Mills, 2.

The floor having been cleared for dancing the Clark orchestra opened with the "duty waltz" and despite the terribly crowded state of the hall, all surely had a real good time throughout this feature of the night's money lunch, for they kept it up until nearly four a.m. and then were sorry that it would be "near milking time" by the time most of them reached home.

Messrs. Gunn and Harry Murray,

Walter Gunn, Ole Jensen, as well as the Clark orchestra, the Band boys and the artistes on the programme

all donated their services for the occasional and the officers of the society

desire to express their thanks publicly in this manner for this great assistance. They also wish to thank the

The election of Officers for 1930 resulted in the following choice: Board of Managers, Messrs D. A. McDougall, P. E. Patterson, Wm. White, J. Stouffer and L. G. Parnell, Mr. J. Stouffer with Mr. D. ## OIL NEWS FROM THE WAINWRIGHT FIELD

(By W. A. Knowles)

Peninsular Petroleum, anticipating a large summer's program of oil development work here now have a gang of men engaged getting all equipment in place for this purpose. Mr. A. H. Stephenson of Toronto is in charge of field work here for this firm.

Onalio Oils Ltd now have their derrick up and all equipment hauled to location replacing that destroyed in the fire. It is understood that they will be making hole from their present depth of 1925 feet by the end of this week. It is also expected that much faster time may be made with the replacement machinery which is of better type than that previously employed.

The Duluth Syndicate have made an excellent cement job on their well near Kinross. It is also expected that a capacity of over thirty million feet with an exceptionally heavy rock pressure estimated at around 900 pounds. It is the intention of this concern to commence another hole adjacent to this gasser as soon as spring weather permits, using this gas for fuel to put the bit down for a depth test. In addition to this one or two more concerns are organizing to develop in this particular area.

Daugherty Petroleum which have a derrick erected east of town intend to inaugurate a drilling program with this week. Equipment is now being arranged for this purpose.

Fabyan Petroleum intend to have a new set of rotary drilling equipment on their location at Fabyan early in March. Drilling is to be resumed on Beaumont No. 2 by April first while pumping equipment which has been arranged for will likely be in operation on their No. 1 producer by that time.

Wainwells are now pumping their No. 4 again and have apparently shut off the water content by their recent cement work. No. 2 which had been shut down some time ago and which was located on a forty section lot gasser may have a new derrick erected over it as the gas pressure which has been interfered with to some extent is being replaced by considerable oil content and they contemplate cleaning the well out and controlling the water with the possibility that this hole has developed a commercial oil content. A meeting of the Wainwells shareholders is to be held in Toronto this week when these matters will be brought up.

Mr. F. E. Stevens, of the contracting drilling firm of Blair and Stevens is now in Wainwright and it is expected that on his return work will be renewed on Bethwain Oil Company's No. 2 well which is presumed to be within 100 feet, or less, of the producing sands but which work has been held up owing to difficulty of getting all oil to location and the extremely cold weather.

Oxville Oils, drilling near Meridian are now cemented just below 1900 feet on a sand which they expect to bring in a production equal to that of Meridian No. 1 which is estimated to be a 100 barrel well.

A large number of men maintain in this field with Beaumont, Bethwain, Daugherty Petroleum, Duluth, Edna, Fabyan, Pete, Hargal, Lloyd, Onalio, Oil Selections, Peninsular, Sisco-Wainwright, Toronto, Wainwells, Wainwright Petroleum and Weyburn Petroleum as actual developers and several other almost definite active oil concerns carrying out drilling programs in this field this summer.

CIVIL AVIATION IN CAN. SETS MARK 6,200,000 MILES

OTTAWA.—The Civil Aviation Branch, Department of National Defence, gives a rough estimate of the miles flown during the year 1929 by civil aircraft as 6,200,000. This compares with 88,250 miles.

The civil aircraft, which includes passenger and mail and freight carrying, exploration, light airplane clubs and Ontario provincial air service activities, in that time is estimated to have flown 6,000,000 miles and were flying 75,000 hours.

The civil government air operators for the year occupied in the neighborhood of 12,000 hours and the miles flown is estimated at 100,000.

But as well, the civil government had planes patrolling the forests of the prairies and on photography operations and the miles estimated at this branch of the service is 100,000.

The Town's waterworks department laid the main west on sixth avenue to Queen street and are now ditching east on fourth avenue.

NO REFERENDUM ON LIQUOR ISSUE

EDMONTON.—Submission to the public of a referendum on the liquor question prior to the crystallization of opinion on the matter is not likely Premier J. E. Brownlee told a delegation from the Alberta Prohibition Association Thursday noon.

The premier said that while he is personally in favor of prohibition legislation for Alberta, nothing would be more destructive to the future of the province than for the government to move too hurriedly in the matter of changes in liquor legislation.

The premier also stated quite frankly that the government was not interested in increasing liquor sales. He said that the cabinet had been considering the appointment of an outside man who would visit all the schools of the province for the purpose of pointing out to the younger people the evil of the drink habit and to pay the foundations for the building up of traditions against the consumption of liquor.

QUALITY IS AIM IN COLONIZATION

REMARKABLE PROGRESS MADE
BY ASSOCIATION IN PAST FEW YEARS

"Not how much land settlement work, but how good," was enunciated as the policy of the Canadian Colonization by W. M. Neal, general manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway at the annual dinner of officials at Calgary, Mr. Neal, after reviewing the history of the C.P.R., emphasized the excellent work it has done in populating the vast tracts of land in Western Canada, and stated that the Canadian Pacific Railway is maintaining the association as an organization through which it might contribute to an orderly land settlement programme.

During the past five years, stated Mr. Neal, the association has settled 1270 families on 84,268 acres, at a purchase price in excess of $33,000,000. In addition to the head office at Winnipeg, branch offices are maintained at Toronto, Saskatoon, Regina, Calgary, Edmonton and Vancouver with a resident inspector at Lethbridge. Tribute was paid by Mr. Neal to the ability and efficiency of T. O. P. Herzer, the manager, in the program made by the association.

The policy of the association, he pointed out, consists of not only placing the newcomer on the land but supervising his farm operations until it is established. The settlers placed by the association come originally from Great Britain, the United States and northwestern and central Europe, and as a rule these are not placed on farms of their own until they have gained some agricultural experience in this country and have demonstrated their reliability.

An interesting illustration of the after-care provided by the association was given by Mr. Neal during the past year it looked after the naturalization of more than a thousand settlers who had been in the Dominion the required five years and were eligible for Canadian citizenship.

Mr. Harold Merrick who has been employed on an oil well at Turner Valley is visiting his mother here.

Waiting until you have only the last few lumps of coal in the bin is "fueless" mistake at this season of the year. Take home a load of Black Diamond coal from the Atlas yard next time you are in town.

The many friends of Donald Wade son of Mr and Mrs J. W. Wade of Wainwright will be pleased to hear that he has been promoted by the Royal Bank from Calgary to a position in the main office at Edmonton.

GILT EDGE M.D. HOLDS RATEPAYERS MEETING

The Annual ratepayer's meeting of the Municipality of Gilt Edge was held on Saturday Feb. 15th in the Masonic Hall, a large number of ratepayers being present to hear very satisfactory reports of the operations of their Municipal affairs.

On motion of W. J. O'Keefe, seconded by Mr Beazley the minutes of the last Annual Meeting were accepted as read.

The Financial Statement for the year, on motion of Mr J. G. Lewis, seconded by Mr M. Greer was unanimously accepted.

A Salvation Army representative was present and addressed the meeting. During his discourse of their cause in calling for assistance it was moved by Mr M. Greer as a result of the address, and seconded by Mr H. Meyers, that the Council consider seriously, the giving of all possible aid to the Salvation Army.

Mr J. G. Lewis, chairman of the Wainwright Municipal Hospital Board addressed the meeting giving much information in connection with the working of the hospital and the results that had been accomplished also covering the financial statement of this institution for the past year.

Moved by Mr M. Greer and seconded by Mr Plaxton that this meeting adopt Mr Lewis's report.—Carried.

The chairman then declared the meeting open for nomination.

The name of the present chairman of the Municipal Hospital Board, Mr J. G. Lewis, was the only name nominated for Hospital Trustee from the Municipality of Gilt Edge, consequently the chairman declared Mr Lewis elected by acclamation.

The chairman then declared that an election would be held in Divisions 1 and 5 Mr. L.E. Bean nominated into the chairman declaring Mr J. I. Mills duly elected for this Division.

WAINWRIGHT PRESBYTRY IN UNITED CHURCH

FILLING UP WEST WITH MACHINERY

FOURTH SOLID TRAINLOAD OF FARM TRACTORS ON WAY WESTWARD

Early in February the fourth solid trainload of Oliver-Hart-Parr tractors left the tractor factory at Charles City, Iowa enroute to the Canadian northwest, according to Frank Fish, Wainwrights Oliver dealer.

This full trainload added to the three trainloads which have been shipped previously makes a total of more than 1,000,000 worth of Oliver-Hart-Parr tractors shipped during the past eight weeks to Canadian farmers which are helping them cut their operating costs.

All of the tractors in this fourth trainload shipment came into Alberta and are being delivered at the following points: Wainwright, Beauval, City, Lethbridge, Loughheed, Leduc, Carleton Place, Arisk, Irma, Redwater, Fort Saskatchewan, Vegreville, Manville, Viking, Innisfree, Banbow, Bruce, Waskatenau, Wainwright No. 13, Edgerton, Gahad Mayerthorpe, Vermilion, Ponoka, and Edmonton.

Evidently Canadian farmers are planning on a profitable year and are taking right means of assuring themselves of profit. The use of power farming equipment is fast demonstrating its worth and the tractor farmer is a man who reaps the great cost profits by keeping his operating costs low

How to Judge Scotch Whisky

THE OLDEST HORSE IN THE WORLD... ESTABLISHED 1769

EXPERTS test whisky by the nose and the palate. To tell a good whisky by the nose is rather difficult, but most people can rely on their palate, and if you have a sensitive palate, you should have no difficulty in detecting the fine qualities of "White Horse".

A bit in whisky does not necessarily signify that it is of great alcoholic strength. Cheap and immature whisky has a decided bite. If whisky is matured for 20 to 30 years the strength is reduced very considerably.

"Marrying" of "White Horse" Scotch Whisky is a blending of malts and grain whisky. For "White Horse" only the choicest makes of Scotch Whisky are selected. They are matured for a long period in cherry wood before blending. After the first blending "White Horse" is allowed to lie in wood for a further period to allow the whisky to become properly "married". It is again put in the blending vat and again allowed to lie in the wood. The general public have very little knowledge of time, expense and care involved in this "marrying" of "White Horse" whisky before it is bottled.

A more mellow, generous and delightful spirit than "White Horse" is not obtainable. This Real Old Scotch, which is the senior whisky of Scotland, will sustain the dignity of any Club, Mansion or Cottage anywhere. It is distilled and bottled in Scotland and sent to all corners of the globe.

WHITE HORSE WHISKY

DISTILLED AND BOTTLED IN SCOTLAND

"THIS ADVERTISEMENT IS NOT INSERTED BY THE ALBERTA LIQUOR CONTROL BOARD OR BY THE GOVERNMENT OF THE PROVINCE OF ALBERTA"

STORIES OF WAR SPIES ABOUT WITH THRILLS AND ADVENTURES

Mystery, intrigue and adventure abound in the true stories now being told for the first time, about the exploits of world-war spies. Until very recently, these tales many of them almost beyond belief have been kept under lock and key in the government's secret files at Washington, writes James N. Miller in the Popular Mechanics Magazine.

One of the cleverest spies operating in America, was a woman in the employ of the German government. She had been suspected for some time but no direct evidence could be lodged against her. Finally she was arrested by army intelligence officers and searched. An unusually large number of pins were discovered in her garments. A cipher expert examined the pins and found curious marks and scratches on the heads. The little pin proved to be a code which was finally deciphered. The woman had been carrying important messages in this way for weeks.

Another story concerns radio messages in code which were sent from German warships and recorded on a phonograph disk by the British admiral. The men assigned to decode the communications were baffled. All they could hear when the records were played was an unintelligible gibberish that defied translation. Then a lucky accident led to the solution. A third agent let his phonograph run down one day. Suddenly he jumped to his feet. The message was being spoken in plain German! The slowing down of the machine had made the talk understandable. The Germans had made records of their messages and sent them through the ether at a terrific speed but the slow phonograph had betrayed them.

In another case a woman spy devised a 3000-word report in such a manner that she could paste it on the lens of her spectacles. Also a dancer dining in a Paris cafe waved her fan in a certain fashion spelling out a message that led to the sinking of a French transport off the coast of Morocco.

A German spy jumped from an air plane landed in a British camp in a British uniform and immediately ordered other officers to collect information for a projected British attack. Another German spy was so active that the British were forced to send several thousand troops to stop his plans and capture him.

Communication between spies and their chiefs were accomplished by a wide variety of wireless. Wireless telegraphy, of course was the most common and it ultimately led to a spy-proof code cipher. It is a modification of the crossword puzzle. A key is employed, consisting of a number of squares in each of which are all the letters of the alphabet. Over these squares is laid a piece of tracing paper and a line is drawn from letter to letter back and forth spelling out the message. The zig-zag picture is wireless as a single unit. The job of the man on the receiving end is to transfer the zig-zags to transparent paper, place them over his key and then untangle the message. To wireless such a cylinder or map requires two cylinders of the same size revolving at a predetermined speed in perfect synchronism. Size and speed can be varied at will, a fact that makes for the safety of the code.

If the key be stolen, the message is irrevocable. In the case of various compositions were widely used in writing messages on sundry articles of clothing. Even handbags and the insides of trunks were utilized for this purpose. The famous "petticoat case" is known to intelligence officers practically all over the world. It is a story of a woman engaged in the war. It seems that a famous opera singer had just completed a concert tour of France and was returning to Switzerland. Her presence did not create particular excitement until one of the customs officials noticed that she was carrying a petticoat that was absurdly out of style. His suspicions aroused the official ordered one of his women aides to have the petticoat examined. When upon the garment was given the "acid test" and a message revealed.

Strangely enough perhaps the most common chemical used by spies in writing invisible reports is lemon juice. It dries readily and later on, when heat is applied the writing stands out bold and black. The kind of paper preferred is onion skin, since it is very thin and strong and is readily compressed within a surprisingly small space.

Wrapping paper was also used to a considerable extent as a message purveyor, for the reason that it did not tend to arouse suspicions if the paper was tied around an innocent looking article like bread or perhaps a book. Books themselves were employed especially those, with wide spaces between the printed lines. Newspapers with broad margins were also used. Various acids which possessed the virtue of revealing maps or messages only when water was applied were tried out with success. A case in point is the well-known "bathtub affair" which caused many a smile to secret service officials. A rather stupid looking fellow claiming to be a neutral trying to get through France to Germany. Held for observation with a group of other men he was asked to take a bath. He refused point-blank, even though he admitted that water had not bathed him for over a week. Why-nilly he was showered with water with the result that on his back was found an important message for the enemy!

Still another invisible writing method was made possible by the micro-photograph, a device actually able to write a complete message on tiny pieces of glass and metal. Even the head of a pin or needle, eyeglass or the tip of a fountain pen was utilized. Needless to say, it was impossible for the human eye to detect the use of the only means of discovery being a high powered microscope.

HEAVIER PENALTIES NEEDED

The penalties in Alberta for proved reckless auto driving and for proved drunken auto drivers are altogether too lenient as a regular thing compared with those in Ontario and also a number of the states. Where the balance as between a reasonable rate of speed is fairly even there may be room for a fine of $25, but where the reckless driving or auto driving by an intoxicated driver is abundantly proven, there should be much heavier fines and penalties than are now meted out.

Under the new state law in Montana, our southern neighbor, an offender, pleading guilty to driving while drunk, was at Great Falls fined $200 and given sixty days as well. By agreement recently made by the county attorney and the head of the traffic division of the Great Falls police department, all persons arrested by the city police on a charge of drunken driving will later be prosecuted for the same offence by the county attorney in the justice of the peace court. The city ordinance provides a fine of $100 to $300 or 30 to 90 days in jail, for drunken driving while the new state law provides $50 to $300 fine or thirty days to six months in jail or both. The state law also provides that the convicted person shall not be allowed to drive a car until thirty days after conviction and he can be ordered by the judge to refrain from driving for as long as six months.

Offenders in Alberta can be charged under the provincial Liquor and Highways Acts, or under the Dominion Criminal Code, the latter not allowing a fine when the intoxicated driver is convicted. Consequently the prosecutions nearly always are entered under the provincial acts, which allow a fine, instead of under the Criminal Code, which provides for a jail sentence. And the fines inflicted, as a rule, are very petty, compared with the menace to the public safety which such offences entail. Heavier sentences are necessary for the protection of the public. The suspension and cancellation of drivers licenses should afford another option of penalty which will give magistrates further discretion in protecting public use of the roads and streets. — Red Deer Advocate.

MODERN TABLES ARE GAY

Homes Now Far More Pleasant Than In The Old Days Of Drabness

By Betty Barclay

Colored tabled glassware—everything complete from the hors d'oeuvre to the demi tasse cups and saucers—is one of the most distinguished contributions to the current vogue for gayety and color which is making our modern homes such pleasant places in which to live and entertain. For a bright and cheerful breakfast we may select a peasant cloth and plain glass fruit and cereal dish plates cups, saucers and all other pieces we need, in any one of a wide variety of lovely shades topaz, amber, rose green or azure. The same glass is delightful for the informal luncheon, either in the same shade or in effective combinations; for instance two tints such as topaz and green glass on a topaz or green cloth.

The formal meal is fittingly served in colored glass etched in delicate design. Here we have glass that is a fitting accompaniment to our prized lace-trimmed Spanish or Italian cloths that we keep for the most important occasions.

Colored linens, flowers, fruits and candles make possible an almost indefinite number of lovely tables with the new glassware. Entirely practical for the serving of hot foods or liquors, and in patterns, colors and designs to harmonize with any scheme of decoration, the new glass has established a secure place for itself in the new home.

WORDS OF THE WISE

She:—"Do right and fear no man"
He:—"Don't write and fear no woman"

Walter: Ever witness a real torn do?
Clyde: Nope, I'm a single man.

Alice: How was your date last night?
Meha: A rough neck

Marge: I hear that Alice fell on an icy spot the other day
Mabel: Probably her shoulder.

NO RELIEF

FROM TAXES

A rubbied note prevailed the annual budget statement, presented to the Alberta legislature by the Provincial Treasurer on Thursday. And well it might. At a time when a tax of 10% prospective times and less easy tax-collecting is in the air, he was forced to announce a spending program of expanding proportions.

The Provincial Treasurer was not able to announce no relief for the heavily burdened taxpayers of the province in spite of enlarged and easily collectible revenue from the sale of liquor
the gasoline tax and the motor license tax, and in spite of the fact that the provincial railway incubus was lifted a year ago. An estimated revenue of the dimensions of $17,107, 686—to be collected from a population of only 600,000—will be barely sufficient to cover expenditure needs.
The estimated expenditure is $17, 061,336.

The government has been in power
during several years of abounding prosperity. There have been good crops, bringing in good prices. Taxes have been paid promptly. Year after year the revenue grew and the expenditure exceeded it until a few years ago when a series of surpluses were announced. But a reference to the mounting net debt of the province robs these surpluses of effect. They were apparent, but not real.

At the beginning of 1924, the net bonded debt of Alberta was announced as $71,792,247. At the beginning of 1930 it amounts to $95,161,241. In the past six years there has been an increase of over $23,000,000 in spite of the application of the new taxes and the increases in the old ones. During that time there has been a continuing invasion of the taxation rights of the municipalities. They have been deprived of any share of the liquor profits, of motor revenue, of the au-tismusement tax. The supplementary revenue tax which the Manitoba Government proposes to abolish as a measure of justice to the urban centres, has been maintained.

The taxpayers, both rural and urban, may well ask where is all the money going to? What is being done with the $2,600,000 received from the sale of liquor a source of revenue not available to former governments? Members of the opposition should inquire on a more detailed statement of expenditure and especially on money grants ordered by governor-in-council during the past five years.

A few days ago, the provincial Liberal leader declared in the Legislature that the present government, the greatest tax-collecting and money spending administration in the history of the province. He pointed out that during the last fiscal year, the public revenue collected amounted to an average per taxpayer of $17.

When the government went into power nine years ago the average per taxpayer was $70. The men who pay the taxes may well ask if the government has given value in return for this large increase in expenditure.

The Brownlie government has carried commendation in several respects its handling of the provincial railway rate, its negotiations for the return of natural resources of the province its advanced social legislation and its scheme for the beautification of the province are among the achievements calling for praise. But in its handling of provincial finances it appears to have no sound basis on which to gauged revenue possibilities and to keep expenditures well within wise

WHY NOT?

U. S. HONEY

"During the past several weeks Alberta weekly newspapers have been approached by the Alberta Development Board for their support in a campaign to influence consumers in favor of 'Made in Alberta' products.
The campaign is a worthy one, and the Alberta Development Board is a fine organization. But, we would call that organization's attention to the inconsistency displayed by one of Alberta's leading producers.

While at breakfast this morning we reached for the honey jar. It was a very attractive container and we confess a liking for honey—good honey, the kind produced in Alberta by the Reiddell people. And that little glass jar of honey was purchased in preference to other brands because it was produced in Alberta.

But imagine one's chagrin when a glance at the label disclosed that it was 'Produced in U. S. A.' There are a hundred printing plants in Alberta which might have produced that label and improved upon its design, but the producer who is catering to the Alberta consumer steps across the international border and buys for himself.

GERMANY INCREASES DUTY

ON CANADIAN WHEAT

OTTAWA.—Information released by the Department of Trade and Commerce shows that, effective January 21st last, Germany has again increased her duties against Canadian wheat.
In 1922 the duty was increased to 12.5 cents per bushel. While the new duty against Canadian wheat is now
a little more than 60 cents a bushel,
that levied against the United States
and other countries enjoying trade
treaties with Germany is 42 cents per bushel.

Some time later a duty of 32.4 cents per bushel was levied and in July 1922 the duty was increased to 48.5 cents per bushel. While the new
duty against Canadian wheat is now
a little more than 60 cents a bushel,
that levied against the United States
and other countries enjoying trade
treaties with Germany is 42 cents per bushel.

Sign labels to advertise his product,
which he hopes to sell in the home market.

Straws point, which way the wind blows and this little incident is but a sample of the inconsistency of many Canadian manufacturers when it comes to producing labels, wrappers and containers. And now, can we be criticized if we are converted to the use of United States honey.

ALBERTA'S MOUTH

HEALTH CRUSADE

The important, bearing that the condition of the teeth has upon the oral health of the individual is to be brought to the attention of the people of this province in a forceful way in a sixty-day campaign, beginning on February 17th, in every part of Alberta. In this work all the philanthropic and service organizations of the community are expected to co-operate.
Churches and schools and clubs will play a particularly prominent part.
The public will be shown how they may prevent the decay of the teeth by engaging the right kind of food, balancing their diet, and brushing teeth in a regular and systematic way. They will be informed about the ill effects of the whole body because of diseased teeth and about the best measures to be taken to deal with such conditions.

Not will the campaign be confined to educational work. The month of all children in the schools will be inspected in which task every dentist will put in two days of his time without charge.

The campaign is being put on by the Canadian Dental Hygiene Council a national organization composed of public spirited persons of all classes, which will work through the Alberta Dental Association, with the active co-operation of the Provincial Departments of Health and Education.

For the purpose of the campaign the province will be divided into twenty-two districts each with its own chairman and local campaign organization.
Every citizen in Alberta is in one of these twenty-two districts and has an opportunity to help.

The growing generation should be healthier than the one that preceded it because of this dental crusade, and a lot of misery on the part of adults due to lack of knowledge and care of the teeth should be obviated.

WHAT A THIRST

THEY WOULD PRODUCE!

Heavy runs of herring on the east coast of Vancouver Island have been yielding the fisherman large catches during the present season but on the west coast the runs have been smaller.
The season for Vancouver Island
which is in Fisheries District No. 3, closes on February 5.

The pack of dry-salted herring on Vancouver Island, up to January 4 totalled 40,146 tons. This total was some 6,000 tons under the figures for the pack up to the corresponding date

in 1929, but was larger than the quantity packed up to the same time in either 1928, 1927 or 1926. During the present season 30 dry-salting plants have been operating on the island, 16 on the east coast and 14 on the west coast.

Nearly all the dry-salted herring
put up in British Columbia is exported to the Orient.

The man who is looking for the ideal woman doesn't take into consideration that she may be looking for the ideal man which is why they never meet.

Should prove to be the finest thing ever put over for the youngsters especially.

"What is the matter with our lighting system these days?" is a question being asked by quite a number of our citizens these days. Well from what can be gathered the two pressures of "Juice"—Edmonton's 13,000 volts and the local plant's 2,300 are not synchronized (whatever that may be) and for the next two weeks this experimentation is to be carried on until both the power company and the citizens are satisfied that things are as they should be, and the blinkety-blinking lights quit their blinkety-blinking!

PLANE SAFETY IN SEVENTH PLACE

By Erwin Greer

(President Greer College of Aviation, Chicago, Ill.)

Safety first? No, seventh.

In the list of desirable characteristics which he studies before he buys a plane or an automobile, seventh is the highest ranking that the average man accords to safety. That, at least is the case if the appraisal of buyer tastes by sales managers in the motor car and airplane fields are correct. And if they do not, who does?

According to one of the most successful sales managers in the aircraft fields, the person considering the purchase of a plane rates the various characteristics as follows:

1. Speed. 2. Suitability to his specific needs. 3. Beauty. 4. Comfort. 5. Utility. 6. Serviceability, or ease and economy of repair. 7. Safety.

Comparing this list with that provided by the sales chief of an automobile company that manufactures cars in many price ranges, one is impressed with the fact that the airplane buyer and motor-car buyer think very much alike; so much alike in fact, that the former might simply be carrying his automobile wisdom over into the new field.

Here is the motor-car company executives list: 1. Character and reliability. 2. Appearance. 3. Performance. 4. Value. 5. Comfort. 6. Economy. 7. Safety.

The characteristics rated and the order in which they are rated are almost the same in the case of both vehicles.

That safety should be rated seventh among the desirable features of an airplane surprises the majority for it still is said in many quarters that "safety is the thing that aviation has to sell the public." However in the opinion of sales executives, there is a logical explanation of safety's lower rank after a survey of just what the prospective buyer wants.

By the time a man gets around to the point of looking over an airplane with the intention of buying it, he is fairly well convinced of the general safety of modern airplane design. It still has weight in his eventual decision, but not nearly so much as many other factors.

These Pioneers

"Dad understands that perfectly," said Claisy.

And Tom did, although he wondered how Claisy did.

"Well," he said, "supposing you go on to New York and see what turns up. Claisy of course is a free agent. She is twenty-two and supposed to have normal intelligence. Besides it always seems to me that marriage is one thing that people ought to manage themselves."

Tom had heartfelt reason for this position. He had married his own wife a frail and poorly invalid against a storm of protest. She had lived only seven years but they were years so richly full that Tom bereft as he was still lived on those brief years had yet to find a woman who could fill his heart as his dead Margaret did.

Red left that afternoon and Claisy went around in a high state of suspense. Only one thing in the world was important now that Red should get a job.

On the third day she had a telegram. "Got the job at fifty per stop is that really enough?"

She wired back: "Heaps stop and I was plenty of furniture stop Dad says go ahead but then he knew we would anyway."

Red wrote: "Darling I am worried about the wedding. It costs like the duce to go to Chicago but I would not do it any other way. I do think brides ought to be gone for and fetched. I have three hundred in the bank. Do I have to have a cutaway. I don't own one. But I want to be right for you. It's swell about the furniture I like the idea of having some of your old family stuff. I'm saving thirty a week. Oh yes, the job. Not bad. Small office, small accounts but enough for a beginner. Your dad is a brick. And you are a brick and an angel and a darling. And I am a transported man."

In February Red came for his bride. The wedding, which Tom arranged was bang up if small. The hour was noon. The place Tom's drawing-room banked with white lilies brought all the way from Georgia because Claisy loved white lilies and only in Georgia were they abundant. Tom was handsome and hospitable and in his heart genuinely proud of this daughter of his. But he was afraid for her too. Spoiled girls Tom still held out should not marry poverty-stricken young men.

As for Claisy and Red, they stood shoulder to shoulder at the garlanded little altar and pledged their vows in clear and confident tones. If the truth was known Red did not feel as confident as he sounded. Could he, could he, in the plain humdrum life that was to be theirs, keep this girl as smiling and tender and trustful as she was today.

But Claisy's faith was complete. She believed in Red and herself and in life as she had always believed in everything, wholeheartedly and without question.

They found an apartment in Dyckman Street at forty-five dollars month. At first Claisy was appalled by the smallness of its three rooms the dinginess of the neighborhood the distance from Red from the office. Then she began envisioning her furniture in the little rooms, saw that the sun did not creep in of afternoons and the bathroom was modern and slick.

They put the four-poster in the bedroom, the refectory table in the living room and the chairs everywhere. Two of the chairs were humble little maple affairs of Empire persuasion, of that original family of six that had travelled westward with Thomas and Marciana Wilson in 1835. Perhaps of their return journey they had created a bit in protest at being uprooted from their adopted country. Perhaps they were glad to be back east after so long a sojourn in a strange land. Anyway, there they stood in Claisy's bedroom, stiff and decorous for Claisy to throw her brief expensive garment on in pleasant feminine heap.

Claisy plunged into cooking. "They say," she said, "pot roast is cheap and tasty. Like it?"

"My favorite dish."

But hers was not the savory spicy pot roast of their dreams.

"Dog meat," said Claisy prying it with a fork.

"Send it to Quirk," suggested Red. Claisy wrote a letter to the cooking department of a woman's magazine.

"What makes pot roast black and rich," she said. Mine is grayish and said."

"Ah," she said to Red when the reply came back. You sizzle it first and then add bay leaves and things after wards.

Perhaps the greatest day in Claisy's life was the one on which they sat down to a pot roast of their own making a pot roast dark and rich in color spicy and racy of taste.

The apartment was finished to the last touch.

"Now," said Claisy, "what about this career-business for me?"

They discussed before the advisability of Claisy's getting a job.

"Up to you," said Red.

Secretly, Red would have preferred to keep his wife at home, but that was Claisy's affair he considered. Claisy hunted jobs for three days.

"No," she told Red on the third day. Nothing to it. I can earn twenty-five a week as a reception clerk or I could spend three months learning shorthand and probably grab off thirty. But carfare and lunches will eat up some of it and our dinners out would take nearly all the rest. Because I couldn't do a job downtown and cook your dinner darling. I'm too darned slow. But I answered an advertisement yesterday. A Japanese gentleman wanted German lessons and I applied and P.S. I got the job. Twice a week. Every Monday and Thursday evening at eight.

"Good heavens," said Red.

"Of course, I know French better than I do German but even at that I will know more than he will. And on Monday and Thursday evening you will retire into the bedroom with a book."

"Smart marm," said Red warmly.

So life as it was to be lived began for Mr and Mrs Donald Stuart. They even began a social life of a sort.

Becky Rader had turned up squealing with delight that Claisy was in New York. And not a hair did Becky turn at the sight of Claisy's cheap little apartment; not a sign did she make at the spectacle of Claisy stewing tea and buttering muffins in a dark cramped New York kitchen. She gabbled gaily on. Claisy and her Red must meet all the gang. They must do all sorts of jolly things. There were some awfully amusing places. Had Claisy been to any of the night clubs.

"Becky," said Claisy, "we can't. We couldn't keep up."

Becky stared. "Keep up with what?"

With you. And your friends. We can't do theatres much. We can't entertain except in the simplest way. When my clothes go—I've got scads now—I'll have to buy cheap ones. We can't buy theatre tickets and go to night clubs and give people steamer presents. We can't play bridge for money. We can't do any of the things you do in the way you do them. See? Get it through your head?"

Becky was dashed, she didn't quite get it through her head but she gave in gracefully.

"All right. That's settled. And am I out too?"

"Darling!" Claisy put out a quick hand. "I should say you're not out. If you will come all the way to Dyckman Street and let me go all the way to East 88th Street sometime that is just what I want. And if any of the other girls I knew at school want to do that it's jake. Only don't try to make us swim in the grand society pond. We couldn't do it. And we don't want to have to try. Now will you come to dinner next Wednesday night? Red's bringing home a man. I'm going to stew an old, old rooster. And Red and his friend will wash the dishes. All right?"

"Grand," sighed Becky blissfully.

But—Claisy Willson stewing roosters!

Red was bringing home many a man and many a woman these days and a more complete collection of down-at-the-heel incipient and unsuccessful poets, painters bond sales men who didn't sell any bonds, little wistful married couples girls working their way through college music students with empty pockets could not have been assembled by anyone except the talented Red. Red brought them home proudly and Claisy fed them royally. She liked most of them. They were all trying to do something, just as Red was. They were a hard working lot, and Claisy had lately learned to appreciate work and persons who worked. But if she had not liked them she would have fed them just the same. Red's genius for finding out all the needy people in the world, Red's stout companionship for every lame duck he saw, were too precious to his wife for one word of discouragement from her—even if lame ducks were always hungry ones and capable of eating anybody out of house and home.

The lame ducks were far from lug.

TEETHING

During the years when the baby teeth are coming through the gums and the child as said to be teething, it is a common belief that any one of the numerous ills from which the young child may suffer can be fairly put down as being due to teething if a rash develop, it is called a teething rash. The young mother is told that the cold in the head, the crying, the restlessness, the upset stomach, are all due to teething, and that there is no reason for her thinking anything else. In some cases, this simple explanation has led to serious results. We try to prevent diarrhoea in children by proper feedings, but, if the condition does occur, it is known by those who have the responsibility of caring for such cases, that prompt treatment, right at the start, is needed, and that delay in securing proper treatment early exposes the child's life to danger. The delay which occurs in seeking treatment is very often explained by the mother on the grounds that she thought, as she had been told by friends, that attacks of diarrhoea were to be expected as a result of teething; and that the condition would clear up, of itself, when the tooth was out.

Teething is a normal event, and most babies go through the period in an easy manner and with so little evidence of what is happening that the parent is surprised on seeing a while point which is baby's first tooth. Some children do suffer evident pain, and such children are apt to be fretful and to suffer from broken sleep, with the result that they are not up to their usual standard of fitness.

The point which we wish to make is simply this—it is not safe to assume that teething is responsible for whatever happens to a child during the teething period. Conditions that arise during the teething conditions are to be dealt with properly, and are not to be considered as being of so particular importance. A realization of this will save many infants from neglect through misunderstanding of the actual facts.

Questions concerning Health addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College Street, Toronto, will be answered by letter. Questions as to diagnosis and treatment will not be answered.

REFRESHING EATS FOR THIS WEEK

Break the egg into a bowl. Add salt and stir well. Add half a lemon juice and mix well. Add oil, slowly at first, until 1/4 cup is added; then the oil may be beaten in rapidly. When the dressing becomes thick add the remaining juice and proceed with remainder of oil.

This dressing may be varied for different salads. For a sharper dressing add 1/4 extra cup of lemon juice just before serving. This makes a thin dressing.

For a meat salad, add 2 teaspoons dry mustard. For a fruit salad add 1/2 cup whipped cream and 1/4 table spoon lemon juice to 1 cup mayonnaise.

LORD WILLINGDON DESCRIBES THE ISLANDS AS THE "SUN-ROOM OF THE EMPIRE"

GOV.-GEN. & LADY WILLINGDON
DELIGHTED WITH TRIP TO WEST INDIES

"There is no reason," said His Excellency, the Governor General of Canada, when he landed at Saint John from the Canadian National Steamship "Lady Drake" after a six weeks sojourn in the Caribbean, "why these beautiful islands should not be the sun-room of the Empire. Lady Willingdon and I cannot say too much in praise of the West Indies from the standpoint of the traveller. If Canadians knew more about them they would give up going to Florida and California in the winter.

"Each island has its own attractions and it would not be fair to single out any one in particular. Some such as Bermuda—unusually British and interested in Canada although it does stand off by itself in the ocean—and Jamaica, are more developed than others, but they all have their appeal. We were only sorry we could not stay longer."

Of the Canadian National Steamships, Their Excellencies had nothing but praise. They were passengers on three—"The Lady Hawkins," "The Lady Somers" and "The Lady Drake." Not only are they beautiful ships and most comfortable, Lord Willingdon said, "but—and I speak after much experience at sea—they are truly sea worthy."

After remarking on the efficiency of the ships officers His Excellency related an incident, which he regarded as an example of the finest courage and seamanship.

The "Lady Somers" lay outside Bermuda, unable to make port because of the violently heavy seas. The captain decided to go the pilot, who was taking the "Lady Rodney" out. A lifeboat was launched—a little British Empire in itself consisting of a crew of Englishmen, Irishmen, Newfoundlanders and Canadians—and it went out bravely across half a mile of extremely rough sea and successfully brought the pilot back.

Empire Aided

Viscount Willingdon was much impressed with the enthusiasm the West Indian islands showed for Canada. "It was," he said, "one of the most encouraging trips I have ever taken. The enthusiasm for Canada was so great that I would go so far as to say that the West Indies, in thinking of their future, look to Canada. They regarded our visit as a further evidence of the Dominion's desire for even closer relationships."

For too many years, His Excellency said, the Indies had been isolated. Canada had undertaken to draw them closer to the Empire, and for this he thought Canada should get full credit in the Home Country. "By developing contact with the West Indies, Canada has made an exceedingly valuable contribution to the Empire."

Isolated from the rest of the Empire the islands had also been more or less isolated from themselves. Lacking consistent intercommunication the various islands had developed independently and individually. His Excellency saw the necessity of closer co-operation particularly if the Indies were to improve their trade relations with the outside world. The spirit of co-operation between the separate islands was beginning to be more apparent and much of this was due to the impetus given by Canada in bringing about the West Indies Trade Agreement and putting into service the fleet of the National Steamships.

"Of course, the West Indies," said His Excellency, "stand to benefit materially by trade with the Dominion, and they are quick to realize it. But Canada will derive advantages too, and the whole thing will serve the Empire by pulling these two sections of it together."

Visit Both Groups

The Governor-General and Lady Willingdon, with the Governor's aides Capt. R. W. Pierson and Capt. R. J. Streetfield and the secretary E. C. Mervill, sailed from Halifax on the Canadian National Steamship "Lady Hawkins" on November 26th, and visited first of all the Eastern group of islands. After calling at Bermuda they cruised south and made short stops at St. Kitts, Nevis, Antigua, Montserrat, Dominica, St. Lucia, Barbados, St. Vincent Grenada and Trinidad. Wherever they went, the distinguished travellers were royally welcomed and entertained. They were given opportunity to glimpse the colorful life of the islands each so different in its characteristics and all so steeped in tropic beauty and romance and to learn something of the development and of the hopes of the colonies.

Canada's Tropic Isle

While the steamer continued its voyage to Demerara, British Guiana the Vice Regal party crossed to Jamaica. It was in Jamaica that The Excellencies spent their Christmas and New Year's Day.

Their Excellencies expressed a desire to take some of Jamaica's citrus fruits back to Canada with them so that the Canadian public might become acquainted with the fruit which Jamaica could produce. So for the first time in the history of the island a shipment of grapefruit and oranges was made by the growers own marketing association, the Jamaica Citrus Producers Association. Twenty cases of grapefruit and twenty of oranges were presented to the Governor General on behalf of the association by Harold Braham, manager, and were shipped on the "Lady Somers."

The cases were labelled "Oranges from Canada's Tropical Isle" and bore the device of a fruit tree growing up out of the map of Jamaica.

After visiting all sections of Jamaica by automobile, over the beautiful roads playing golf and enjoying the other sports of the island, Their Excellencies sailed from Kingston on the "Lady Somers" for a short stay at Bermuda before returning to St. John on the "Lady Drake."

Mary Travellers.

Whether moved by the example of the Governor-General and Lady Willingdon or not, Canadians are this winter showing a greater interest than ever in the West Indies as a means of escaping the winter and enjoying a sea voyage in the warm, secluded islands of the Spanish Main. The shorter trip to Bermuda appeals to those whose time is more limited but the longer cruises, either to the Bahamas and Jamaica or down through the eastern group to South America attracted many from all parts of the Dominion and from the United States as well. During the winter months the five steamers in the Canadian National service sail from Halifax and St. John and in the summer two of them, the "Lady Somers" and the "Lady Rodney" go from Montreal.

Awakened to greater activity by the advent of this line of beautiful white-hulled vessels, the West Indies are making even greater efforts to welcome their visitors. One evidence of this is the new hotel which is now under construction at Constant Spring near Kingston, Jamaica.

Many Canadians will be interested to know that Stanley Thompson, the celebrated Toronto golf architect, who designed the splendid course at Jasper Park Lodge, sailed recently for Jamaica to undertake the designing of a golf course for this new hotel.

SMUT COSTS WESTERN

FARMERS $1,000,000.

WINNIPEG—Farmers of Western Canada, during 1928-29, lost one million dollars due to bunt or smut, a fungus disease attacking wheat, according to Dr. F. W. Hanna, of the rust research laboratory at Winnipeg. Speaking last night, Dr. Hanna explained that the disease is virtually controllable by a simple method. Research work into the ways and whereof of rust on grain has been speeded up by discoveries made at the Dominion laboratory at Winnipeg. Research stated Dr. J. H. Craigie, Work of T. Johnston, at Winnipeg has shortened the dormancy period of rust spores from six months to as many weeks.

In order to do a thing once, some people have to do it twice.

IMMUNIZATION

These last few days have brought thoughts of spring—spring when the good brown earth is turned over to the sun and the winds of heaven. When seed is sown with a conscious or unconscious prayer that good harvest will result. The farmer looks over his finished fields with pride and hope, having given unstintingly of his work and of himself, that others may have bread, and the better to do this he buys the best seed he can afford. It must be clean—it must ripen early—and it must be immune to rust. The same with his stock, he buys none but healthy animals, and he is careful that they remain so.

Yet that careful man will laugh sceptically at the idea of his children being immunized against diseases. His father and grandfather lived without vaccines and serums, so can he and his children. But can they? Is it worth the risk? Diphtheria is no respecter of persons and typhoid or small pox take toll of both child and adult. Every child should and can be protected from the above mentioned diseases. Are yours?

Information on immunization can be had from the Canadian Red Cross Society, 407 Civic Block Edmonton.
